5-Gwendolyn "Honey" Lassiter was born on 23 Jan 1920 in Ranger, Eastland County, Texas,²³ died on 11 Aug 2004 in Dallas, Texas²⁴ at age 84, and was buried on 14 Aug 2004 in Restland Cemetery, Dallas, Texas.

General Notes: Honey was born in Ranger, Texas. Ranger is in Eastland County, about 85 miles west of Fort Worth on Interstate 20.

Honey got her nickname from Lloyd Jr. When Lloyd Jr was young, Lloyd was out working in the yard, and called in to Gwendolyn, calling her "Honey". Lloyd Jr picked it up and started calling his mother Honey, and it just stuck.

Honey died quietly the evening of August 11, 2004, after suffering two strokes in the weeks before she died.

Gwendolyn married Lloyd Lionel Gwinn,²⁵ son of Henry Claude Gwinn²⁶ and Nora Taylor,⁶ on 17 Dec 1937 in Morton, Texas. Lloyd was born on 14 Aug 1916 in Allendale, Wichita County, Texas,⁶ died on 25 Oct 2009 in Texas²⁷ at age 93, and was buried on 28 Oct 2009 in Restland Cemetery, Dallas, Texas.²⁷ They had three children: Lloyd Lionel, Barbara Sue, and Kay Ann.

Marriage Notes: Lloyd met Honey while she was in still in high school. Lloyd graduated in 1935, and he was helping the principal of Honey's high school run the track meets. During a track meet Honey was there with Bobby Joe Bradford and asked who the guy was with Durwood Spool. Bobby Joe said that was Lloyd Gwinn. Bobby Joe said lets go over there and see who that was. They talked to everyone, and on the way back they forgot to look at that boy. Durwood would not introduce her because she had been going steady for two years with Jack Cowden. Jack had left town and gone to work in the oil field. At the Allison drug store (11miles from Iowa park), Lloyd asked Bill Overbee to introduce him to Honey. He said he would. So Lloyd drove himself and Bill in Lloyd's 1934 Ford pickup truck to Iowa Park. When

Descendants of William Kiser

Lloyd pulled up at the Lassiter's house, Honey and Darleen Cunningham were laying across the bed looking out the window. She said "Well there is Lloyd Gwinn". He met her on Sunday evening, and the next Saturday he asked her for a date and she accepted. Honey's mother Ada asked them not to go to Wichita Falls, but just to go to the local movie theater. They did. The Monday before their date Lloyd was working on a road grater, he stopped by and caught Honey about to wash her hair. He told her that he was happy she accepted the date. They only had two or three dates before she moved away. About this same time, Lloyd's uncle in Brownfield, TX, wanted Lloyd to come work with him in his mens clothing store. Lloyd was 21 yrs old. He moved to Brownsfield to work with his uncle, and lived in the back of the store. Honey had moved to Martin, and this was only 12 miles across the field from where Lloyd was working in the store.

Honey talked about the first time Lloyd came across that field to see her. She was sitting in church and a girl she was with said "boy that is a good looking boy coming there". Honey said "oh that's Lloyd".

Lloyd moved to Brownfield on August 20, and they married on December 18. Honey said that maybe she would have married anyone at that time because of the tough time she had at home.

On December 18, 1937, Lloyd went to the Lassiters new 1938 blue Ford pickup truck. He traded in his 1934 truck for it. Honey's father Wylie said he was sorry that he had not had a chance to see Lloyd because he had been working all of the time that Lloyd and Honey were courting. Lloyd said to Wylie, "I would like your daughter's hand". Wylie slammed his hands on the arms of the chair and said loudly ""My daughter's hand!" Lloyd said "I am not scared of you. You know I can take care of her." Lloyd asked if they could go and get married after dinner, and they did.

After they were married, they loaded up Honey's hope chest and moved onto the Gwinn farm in Iowa Park. Lloyd was going to help his dad Henry on the dairy farm. Henry built a house on the farm for Lloyd and Honey. [Lloyd & Honey Gwinn, July 18, 2003]

After Lloyd and Honey were married, Lloyd's father Henry asked him what plans they had about having children. Lloyd told Henry he wanted four children. Henry told him well you better plan on six because he and Nora had wanted four and ended up with six. Lloyd said that after Barbara was born, World War II broke out and they waited until after the war to have any more children. [Lloyd Gwinn, July 18, 2003]

Honey & Lloyd were living in Iowa Park, TX, when their daughter Barbara was born in the Wichita Falls hospital. [Lloyd Gwinn, July 18, 2003]

General Notes: Lloyd said that when his mother Nora was pregnant with him, she was carrying twins. About six months into the pregnancy, she had to have her appendix removed. Nora lost Lloyd 's twin during the surgery. Lloyd's twin was a fraternal twin, not identical. The lost twin was in his own sac and he was lost without affecting Lloyd. Nora carried Lloyd for another three months. He was born natural out on the farm at 3pm on August 14, 1916, the hottest day of the year. Lloyd said that the help or the nurse was fanning his mother during his birth.

Descendants of William Kiser

The doctor had to clip Lloyd's tongue when he was less than an hour old because he could not nurse. Because of that, he had trouble talking until he was a teenager, especially in pronouncing R's.

Lloyd was club footed as a child. But he was also a very good runner. Lloyd had 27 ribbons for running track during school. He said that he could run the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds flat.

When he was young, Lloyd's father called him Mike. Lloyd never liked being called Mike, and so made everyone quit calling him that.

Just after he and Honey married, Lloyd took her to a Taylor family reunion (his mother's family). There were 78 people on the farm at Christmas time.

Lloyd said that he smoked until he was 27 years old. In 1943, he went down to Fort Worth for his army physical so he could join up during the war. He went to the hearing examination, then the heart examination. The examiners asked if he had any disease, and he said "yes, ulcers". The doctors found he had a heart murmur, and would not take him into the service. The doctors in the army told him to quit smoking because the tobacco would not allow him to clear up the ulcers. On the way back from the Army physical, there was a guy on the truck they were riding in telling a joke and just before the punch line he stopped and lit a cigarette, then finished the punch line. Papa thought that guy was a slave to cigarettes and handed the guy next to him his pack with only one gone and quit smoking May 3, 1943, and has not touched one since.

[Lloyd Gwinn, July 18, 2003]

In 1961 they took part of his stomach out because of the ulcers.
